

Entry into force of the USMCA is drawing nearer

---

Dear clients and friends:

Today, Canada concluded its process of approving the USMCA, following approval in the Parliament and the signing of the Royal Assent.

The governments of the three countries continue to work on the Uniform Rules and the Panelist Lists in preparation for the notification by each of them that they have concluded their approval procedures. The USMCA will enter into force on the first day of the third month after the three countries notify the other signatories of the conclusion of their respective approval processes.
